Vince "The Voice" Bailey is a 35+ year media veteran who began his career as a United Way volunteer reader for the blind in his hometown of Gary, Indiana. For the past twenty-three years he has operated Vince The Voice LLC (formerly Vince Bailey Productions), a full-service audio / video production and consulting company. Past clients include the USDA National Forest Service, US Department of Commerce, The Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians, Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, UnitedHealthcare, State Farm Insurance, Lowes, Wells Fargo Bank, the American Red Cross, the American Cancer Society, and Job Corps Centers around the country. He has been the announcer for professional sporting events and media broadcasts including the Atlanta Dream (WNBA Basketball team), the Georgia Force (Arena Football), Professional Boxing, Professional Ballroom Dancing, Audiobooks, Voicemail Systems, ASPIRE Network, TV ONE, The Stellar and Trumpet Awards, and continues to provide voice talent for radio and television commercial clients nationwide.

He has received numerous awards and acknowledgements for his work, but takes greatest pride in the mentoring he has provided to many young media professionals. He has served on many boards and committees related to youth and personal development including: Chairman of the Atlanta Job Corps Community Advisory Council, Atlanta Business League Board of Directors, Chair of the Georgia Black United Fund, Chair, Vice Chair and Youth Council Chair to the Fulton County Workforce Investment Board. Currently Vince teaches Voiceover at Clayton State University and privately to aspiring Voiceover artists.

A man with glasses and a warm smile is the central figure. He is wearing a vibrant, patterned shirt with geometric designs in shades of yellow, purple, and blue. He holds a silver microphone in his right hand and points his left hand directly at the viewer. The background is a soft, out-of-focus blue and teal, suggesting a stage or event setting. The text 'THANK YOU' is prominently displayed in white, bold, sans-serif capital letters across the middle of the image.

THANK YOU
